

Al Quackenbush - Vice President

Albert Quackenbush hails from a western New York family with a rich love and passion for the outdoors. He began safely shooting firearms and archery equipment at the age of nine. At fourteen, he harvested his first whitetail deer, a 7-point buck during his first year of bow hunting. Since that moment, he has been captivated by hunting. He's hunted for forty years and loves every aspect of it.

After relocating to Southern California in the mid-2000s, he quickly realized that hunting in California was a challenge. He decided the knowledge he gathered should be shared with other hunters, which led to his founding The SoCal Bowhunter.

Known for his honest gear reviews and stories of hunting adventure, Al has had articles published in national magazines, websites, and blogs, and has been a guest on multiple podcasts. He is also an award-winning photographer and is the co-host of the "Sprocket & Chubbs Outdoor Podcast". He authors The Faithful Sportsman to share his love of Christ, the outdoors, archery, firearms, and freedom.
